REPORTS

Speech by Mrs.V,Mohanapriya – JKKMCT HOD / CIVIL WEC (I /C)

"Empowering rural women is not just about giving them a voice; it's about amplifying the chorus of strength, resilience, and wisdom that they bring to their communities."

As the head of women empowerment initiatives in our community, I stand before you today to shed light on a critical aspect of our work: rural women's rights. In the heart of every village, there lies the spirit and resilience of our rural women. They are the backbone of our society, yet often their voices remain unheard, their struggles unseen. Today, we gather not just to acknowledge their existence, but to champion their rights, their aspirations, and their dignity. Rural women face a myriad of challenges, from limited access to education and healthcare to gender-based violence and economic marginalization. But within these challenges lies an opportunity for change, for progress, and for empowerment.

The journey of alcohol cessation marked by immense struggles, but also one filled with hope and resilience. For those battling alcohol addiction, every day is a battle against the grip of dependency, a struggle against the pull of familiar but destructive habits. It's a journey fraught with physical, emotional, and social challenges. But amidst these struggles, there is a glimmer of hope—a beacon of light that shines through the darkness of addiction: self-employment. Self-employment not only offers financial independence but also fosters a sense of empowerment and autonomy. It allows individuals to redefine their identities beyond their past struggles with alcohol. It diverts, supports & leads to the betterment of daily life.

VOTE OF THANKS

"Gratitude can transform common days into thanksgivings, turn routine jobs into joy, and change ordinary opportunities into blessings." Your presence here today has certainly transformed this gathering into a memorable occasion filled with gratitude and inspiration. Thank you all for your invaluable contributions – says Ms.S.Samyuktha - AP/S&H - JKKMCT

SUMMARY

The Programme was Organized by Women's Empowerment cell of JKKMCT. The overall programme covers the concept of womens rights towards rural community. The speech delivered by the head of women empowerment initiatives focuses on the importance of recognizing and championing the rights of rural women. She highlights the challenges they face, including limited access to education, healthcare, and economic opportunities, and emphasizes the necessity of empowering them for sustainable development. The speech calls for dismantling barriers, amplifying their voices, and creating an enabling environment for rural women to thrive. And further she extendes her speech in the topic of drugs as Drugs destroy lives, families, and communities. Together, we can break the cycle of addiction and build a healthier, drug-free society. The students of JKKMCT potrayed a drama regarding drug addiction, its effects, treatment, upliftment & upgradation via selfrealization & selfemployment. Drug addiction ravages the lives of housewives, fracturing families and eroding stability. It brings emotional turmoil, financial strain, and neglect of responsibilities. Let's offer support, understanding, and resources to break the cycle and restore hope. Rural women can pursue self-employment by starting small-scale ventures like organic farming, handicrafts, or rural tourism. The personalities stated that, to avoid drug addiction, they must prioritize community support, engage in skill-building activities, foster healthy relationships, and seek counseling if needed. Empowering women through entrepreneurship and a supportive environment can provide alternatives to substance abuse, fostering resilience and well-being. The program concludes with a commitment to building a future where every rural woman can live with dignity, equality, and opportunity.

INTERNATIONAL WOMEN'S DAY CELEBRATION 2023

International Women's Day is celebrated annually on March 8th. It's a day dedicated to honoring the social, economic, cultural, and political achievements of women around the world. It's also a time to raise awareness about the ongoing fight for gender equality and women's rights."Empowering women isn't about handing them strength; it's about igniting the fire within them to blaze their own trails." When we empower women, we unlock their potential to contribute to society in meaningful ways. By providing women with equal opportunities, we not only uplift individual lives but also uplift entire communities and nations.

WELCOMING HONOURING THE DIGNITARY WITH SHAWL

Prayer is the spiritual communication of worship where we talk to god& also listen to them. Whether we realize it or not, prayer is the encounter of God's thirst with ours. The purpose of prayersare adoration, thanksgiving, repentance, petition. It also a way of relating to god, to ourselves, to those around us.

Whenever a chief guest graces us with their presence, it is a rare gem, a true treasure to be treasured and celebrated. - The dignitary were honored with shawl and memento by the WEC I /C of JKKMCT at the venue.

PRAYER SONG & LIGHTING OF KUTHUVILAKU

As the flame flickers to life, it casts a warm glow, symbolizing hope, prosperity, and spiritual awakening. Family members often join in chanting prayers or singing hymns, fostering a sense of unity and reverence. The gentle glow of the Kuthuvilaku serves as a beacon of positivity and harmony, illuminating not just the physical space but also the hearts and minds of those present. It is a timeless tradition that celebrates the sacred bond of family, the richness of culture, and the eternal light of spirituality.

WELCOME ADDRESS

"Always keep learning and don't stop being curious."

"Do everything that you are interested in, it is never too late to start."

'Be there for your loved ones, as without their presence many things would be different in your life."

Giving encouragement to others is a most welcome gift, for the results of it are lifted spirits, increased self-worth & a hopeful future says our WECI/C Mrs .V. MOHANAPRIYA .M.E.,(HOD / CIVIL) on her welcome address.

PRESIDENTIAL ADDRESS

"Feminism isn't about making women strong. Women are already strong. It's about changing the way the world perceives that strength." - G.D. Anderson

As per these quotes our beloved Secretary mam Mrs.KATHURIPRIYA KIRUPAKAR MURALI., addressed the gathering as "We gather to celebrate Women's Empowerment, let us reflect on the profound wisdom shared by some remarkable women throughout history.

Eleanor Roosevelt once said, "No one can make you feel inferior without your consent." These words remind us of the importance of self-confidence and resilience in the face of adversity.

Sheryl Sandberg, the COO of Facebook, emphasized the significance of women supporting each other, stating, "We need women at all levels, including the top, to change the dynamic, reshape the conversation, to make sure women's voices are heard and heeded, not overlooked and ignored."

As we strive for progress and equality, let us heed the words of MalalaYousafzai, who famously said, "We cannot all succeed when half of us are held back." True empowerment comes when every individual is given the opportunity to thrive, regardless of gender.

As we continue to advocate for gender equality, let us draw inspiration from these words and work tirelessly to create a world where every woman has the opportunity to reach her full potential, she concluded.

CHIEF GUEST SPEECH

Distinguished guests, esteemed colleagues, and advocates for gender equality,

It is an honor to address you today on the crucial intersection of innovation, technology, and gender equality under the theme "DigitALL: Innovation and Technology for Gender Equality."

In this digital age, technology serves as a powerful tool for driving positive change and advancing the cause of gender equality. From closing the gender gap in access to education and healthcare to providing economic opportunities for women entrepreneurs, the potential of technology to catalyze progress is immense.

Through initiatives like mentorship programs, skill-building workshops, and access to online resources, we can empower women and girls with the digital literacy and knowledge needed to thrive in the 21st century workforce. By leveraging technology to provide flexible work opportunities and support for working mothers, we can break down barriers to women's economic participation and create more inclusive workplaces.

Furthermore, technology plays a pivotal role in amplifying women's voices and addressing gender-based violence. Platforms for online activism and digital storytelling enable women to share their experiences, raise awareness, and advocate for change on a global scale. Additionally, innovative solutions such as mobile apps for reporting incidents of violence and online support networks provide vital resources and support to survivors.

As we harness the power of innovation and technology to advance gender equality, it is essential to prioritize inclusivity and ensure that these tools are accessible to all women, regardless of their socio-economic status or geographic location. By bridging the digital divide and promoting digital inclusion, we can create a more equitable society where every woman and girl has the opportunity to fulfill her potential.

In closing, let us reaffirm our commitment to harnessing the transformative power of technology to build a more inclusive and gender-equal world. Together, let us work towards a future where digital innovation serves as a catalyst for positive change and empowers women and girls to thrive in all aspects of life.

BRIEF REPORT

Community radio is a type of radio service that offers a model of radio broadcasting beyond commercial and public service. Community radio broadcasting serves geographic communities and communities' interest. The content of broadcasting is largely popular and relevant to a local/specific audience. Community radio is not-for profit and provides a mechanism for facilitating individuals, groups, and communities to tell their own diverse stories, to share experiences, and in a media rich world to become active creators and contributors of media.

JKKMCT is essentially a non-profit enterprise initiated by the ANNAI JKK SAMPOORANIAMMAL Trust, Komarapalayam, Gobi and managed by JKK MUNIRAJAH College of Technology. The community radio acts as a vehicle for the community and voluntary sector, civil society, agencies, NGOs and citizens to work in partnership to promote community development.Community radio can play a significant role at the grass roots level for rural development with active participation of the local community.

In many parts of the Nation today, By the core aims and objectives of this model of broadcasting, community radio stations often serve their listeners by offering a variety of content that is not necessarily provided by the larger commercial radio stations.For instance, issues of poverty, agriculture, gender inequality, education, social problems among others could be the focus for programming.

JKKM Community Radio is currently going ON AIR @ 89.6 MHz for 6.00 hours from 7.00 am to 10.00 am in the morning and 5.00 pm to 7.00 pm in the evening.

THINAM ORU THIRUKURAL

The Thirukkural is one of the most revered ancient works in the Tamil language. It is considered a 'common creed', providing a guide for human morals and betterment in life.Thirukkural (or the Kural) is a collection of 1330 Tamil Poems organised into 133 chapters. Each chapter has a specific subject ranging from "ploughing a piece of land" to "ruling a country". It preaches simplicity and truth throughout its verses.

" ThuppaarkkuthThuppaayaThuppaakkithThuppaarkkuth ThuppaayaThooumMazhai"

Meaning

The rain is the important element to make the food for the eaters or the consumers. Hence, when the eaters or the consumers who eat the food the rain itself becomes the food for them.

In this way we daily tell one Thitukural with explanation to understand rural people.

TIME FOR ENTREPRENEUSHIP

As economic globalization accelerates, the number of university graduates increases yearly, resulting in severe employment situations and difficulties in self-employment. Data suggest that the number of college graduates in China has increased from about 5 million in 2010 to nearly 9 million in 2019, with only about 70% employment rate. Therefore, cultivation and improvement of the comprehensive entrepreneurial quality of college students are urgently needed. With the proposal of the mass entrepreneurship and innovation initiative,

China focuses on entrepreneurship activities and education while putting forward many policy packages. Thus, university entrepreneurship education has received a widespread attention.

Entrepreneurship education, as a practical course, aims to cultivate the innovative awareness, innovative spirit, and innovative ability of college students, and is designed with reasonable objectives and regularity. Additionally, higher education in China has developed rapidly in the past few years, and under the background of the mass entrepreneurship and innovation initiative, entrepreneurship education has received a great attention from the whole society. Hence, innovative talent training is guiding and innovating talent training modes of colleges and universities. The vigorous development of entrepreneurial activities promotes the systematization of basic entrepreneurial education theories, reformation of research methods, expansion of research scope, and improvement of practical effects. Comprehensive research on disciplines significantly influences the theory and practice of entrepreneurship education. Educational psychology can combine psychology and pedagogy, which studies the dynamic psychological activities of students and teachers during learning and teaching, as well as their interaction relationships. Under the background of mass entrepreneurship and innovation, teachers can understand the psychology and learning interests of students in entrepreneurship classes through educational psychology, discover learning problems of students, and grasp the learning status of students. Meanwhile, psychological dilemmas of students in learning can be revealed, which will help teachers fully understand the acceptance of entrepreneurial knowledge by students and formulate targeted teaching plans.

So we are creating awareness to the students to become a Entrepreneur using our FM.

INSTITUTIONAL DISTINCTIVENESS

Agriculture is an important part of every country, as they are also one of the major contributions to economic growth. The government should concern for our agriculture heroes. People should give more support and respect to the farmers but the government couldn't help them. Be it the smallest or the largest country, because of farmers only we are surviving on the planet. Thus, Farmers are the most important people in the world. Though, farmers have so much importance still they do not have proper living.

Farmers have great importance in our society. They are the ones who provide us food. Since every person needs proper food for their living, so they are a necessity for the society. There are different types of farmers, and they all have equal significance. First are the farmers who grow a crop like wheat, barley, rice, etc. Since the maximum intake in Indian households is of wheat and rice. Farmers who grow these crops are of prime importance. Second, are the ones who cultivate fruits.

We give useful information to agricultural people via JKKM Community Radio Station 89.6 MHz.

In the evening session we conduct nearly fifteen programs. Some of them are, learn the scientific knowledge Medical Tips, Motivational speech, organic food benefits, and job& Exam tips.

1. PARTICIPATION OF SCHOOL STUDENTS IN OUR JKKM COMMUNITY RADIO STATION 89.6 MHZ REGARDING 75TH INDEPENDENCE DAY

India is celebrating 75 years of Independence on August 15, 2022 with programmes organised at various educational institutions- schools, colleges. Flag hoisting ceremonies, cultural programmes, sports events were a part of the Independence Day celebrations at governmental and non-governmental institutions throughout the country.

- Radio is all about communication and running a radio show takes commitment and teamwork in order for it to be a success. Our systems are easy enough to use that all students, regardless of age or ability can get involved.
- Building Confidence - Most people find talking to a 'mic' in a closed room far less intimidating than appearing on camera or on stage. This allows students to express their views and build their confidence whether it is discussing important issues or sharing ideas, radio gives students a confident voice within your school.
- Develop Speaking & Listening Skills - Radio is about speaking and listening. Whether you are presenting or just listening to a show, these vital skills are not only fundamental in radio but are essential for 'real world' skills
- Improving Literacy - Seems strange to be talking about writing skills in radio but the first time a student looks at the 'mic' and then asks what they should say, they realise they need to write scripts and prepare between links.
- Teamwork - Planning and presenting radio shows requires a great deal of teamwork.

Our college staffs are visiting various schools and recording the student's voice which was later telecast by our community radio station.

2. WOKSHOP ON CLIMATE LITERACY (CHENNAI)

"Climate literacy is an understanding the climate's influence on you and society and your influence on climate."

Climate science and energy are complex topics, with rapidly developing science and technology and the potential for controversy. How can educators effectively bring these important subjects into their classrooms? There are many ways to approach climate and energy depending on the grade level, course topics and instructional method. Yet no matter the pedagogic setting, using a literacy-based approach can provide a sound foundation to build learners' understanding of these topics. The Teaching Climate section will support the Next Generation Science Standards (NGSS) Implementation through an integrated Earth system science approach in K-12 education.

The following set of climate literacy principles provides a framework for teaching the science behind these issues. Each summary links to a more detailed discussion of what makes the topic important, why it can be challenging to teach, and suggestions for grade-level specific teaching strategies and links to relevant teaching materials.

The first of its kind in the United States, the centre focuses on strategies to build universal climate literacy: helping young people develop understanding, values and attitudes aligned with how we should live to respect our planetary home. Climate literacy is a wider competence than the knowledge of climate science.

The Guiding Principle for Informed Climate Decisions

- Essential Principle 1: The Sun is the Primary Source of Energy for Earth's Climate System
- Essential Principle 2: Climate is regulated by complex interactions among components of the Earth system.
- Essential Principle 3: Life on Earth depends on, is shaped by, and affects climate.
- Essential Principle 4: Climate varies over space and time through both natural and man-made processes.
- Essential Principle 5: Our understanding of the climate system is improved through observations, theoretical studies, and modeling.
- Essential Principle 6: Human activities are impacting the climate system.
- Essential Principle 7: Climate change will have consequences for the Earth system and human lives.

Climate Literacy workshop was held at Chennai from 30.01.2023 to 31.01.2023 which was conducted by SMART team. Our Faculty Mrs.U.Sasikala from EEE department attends that workshop and gain knowledge from that workshop. In that workshop they told us to create awareness about climate change at least 2000 people using their radio station within 6 months.

3. WORLD RADIO FESTIVAL AT NEW DELHI

February 13 is a proclaimed day by UNESCO to celebrate the history and future of radio as one of the means of communication and information. According to the United Nations, radio is a low-cost and popular medium, which can reach the remotest areas and the most marginalized people. The theme for the 12th edition of World Radio Day is "Radio and Peace". On World Radio Day 2023, UNESCO highlights independent radio as a pillar for conflict prevention and peace building. Promoting and encouraging the use of the radio is the goal of the day. The theme for World Radio Day 2023 is "New World, New Radio". It celebrates the transformation of radio to adapt to the changing digital world and highlights its role in creating a more inclusive and connected society.

The theme for the 12th edition of the World Radio Day, to be celebrated on 13 February 2023, is "Radio and Peace". War, as an antonym to peace, signifies an armed conflict between countries or groups within a country, but may also translate into a conflict of media narratives. The narrative can increase tensions or maintain conditions for peace in a given context - for instance weigh in on the rough or smooth conduct of elections, the rejection or integration of returnees, the rise or tempering of nationalistic fervour, etc. In reporting and informing the general public, radio stations shape public opinion and frame a narrative that can influence domestic and international situations and decision-making processes.

Our staff Mrs.U.Sasikala from EEE department has attend the World Radio festival held at New Delhi on 13.02.2023.In this Festive they tell mostly about the climate count town.

Brief report about Climate Count Down Episode-1

Mrs.Sasikala AP/ECE of JKKMCT delivered a speech about the awareness and gave some important points to the students. The points are,

1. Global warming refers to the above-average temperature increase on Earth.
2. The primary cause of global warming is the Greenhouse effect.
3. Climate change is blamed for global warming, as it badly affects the environment.
4. The most critical and very important issue that no one can overlook is climate change; it is also spreading its leg in India.
5. India's average temperature has risen to 1.1 degrees Celsius in recent years.
6. Living creatures come out of their natural environment due to global warming, and eventually become extinct.
7. Climate change has contributed to weather pattern disruptions across the globe and has led to unusual shifts in the monsoon.
8. Human actions, apart from natural forces, have also led to this transition. Global warming leads to drastic climate change, leading to flooding, droughts and other climate catastrophes.
9. The pattern of monsoon winds is influenced by changes in global temperature and alters the time and intensity of rain. Unpredictable climate change impacts the nation's farming and production.
10. Planting more trees can be a positive step in eliminating the global warming problem.

Brief report about Climate Count Down Episode-2

Mrs.Sasikala AP/ECE of JKKMCT delivered a speech about the awareness and gave some important points to the students. The points are,

- Climate change is already happening. It is causing more extreme weather conditions, such as floods and droughts.
- Climate change could lead to a loss of biodiversity, as plants and animals are unable to adapt to the changing climate.
- Climate change could also cause humanitarian crises, as people are forced to migrate because of extreme weather conditions.
- Climate change could damage economies, as businesses and industries have to cope with increased energy costs and disrupted supply chains.
- It is important that we finally stop debating about it. Schools need to stop making students write a speech on Global Warming or Climate Change and focus on making them capable of living a sustainable life. Face it with courage and honesty.

Brief report about Climate Count Down Episode-3

Mrs.S.Poornima AP/English of JKKMCT delivered a speech about the awareness and gave some important points to the students. The points are,

Earth is the only planet which has variety in weather and climate crucial for survival. But we humans are killing nature to fulfil our need and greed that causes global warming, eventually leading to climate change. Here, we have provided either long and short Climate Change speech or Global Warming speech along with 10 lines for a brief speech on Global Warming. Students can refer to this article whenever they are supposed to write a speech on Global Warming.

Global Warming refers to the Earth's warming, i.e. rise in the Earth's surface temperature. A variety of human activities, such as industrial pollution and the burning of fossil fuels, are responsible for this temperature rise. These operations emit gases that cause the greenhouse effect and, subsequently, global warming. Climate change, starvation, droughts, depletion of biodiversity, etc. are some of the most important consequences of global warming.

Brief report about Climate Count Down Episode-4

In this Episode she was discussed about,

The health threats experienced to date are an early symptom of the dangers our future might hold. Despite continued warnings of the risks, and regardless of agreed targets to limit temperature rise, the world is accelerating in the wrong direction.

However, for all the negatives, there are still positive signals of progress, and opportunities to deliver a healthy, thriving future for people all around the world. Building upon the progress already made, the Commission makes recommendations to maximise the benefits of climate change action for people's health and wellbeing.

Global Warming refers to the Earth's warming, i.e. rise in the Earth's surface temperature. A variety of human activities, such as industrial pollution and the burning of fossil fuels, are responsible for this temperature rise. These operations emit gases that cause the greenhouse effect and, subsequently, global warming. Brief report about Climate Count Down Episode-5

In this Episode she was discussed about,

1. Start by doing your research. Climate change is a complex topic, and there's a lot of information out there on it. Make sure you understand the basics of climate change before you start writing your speech.
2. Write down what you want to say. It can be helpful to draft an outline of your speech before you start writing it in full. This will help ensure that your points are clear and organized.
3. Be passionate about the topic. Climate change is a serious issue, but that doesn't mean you can't talk about it with passion and enthusiasm. Let your audience know how important you think this issue is.
4. Use visuals to help explain your points. A good speech on climate change can be filled with charts, graphs, and statistics. But don't forget to also use powerful images and stories to help illustrate your points.
5. Stay positive. Climate change can be a depressing topic, but try not to end your speech on a negative note. Instead, talk about the steps we can take to address climate change and the positive outcomes that could come from it.
6. Start by defining what climate change is. Climate change is a problem that refers to a broad array of environmental degradation caused by human activities, including the emission of greenhouse gasses.

Brief report about Climate Count Down Episode-6

In this Episode she was discussed about,

1. Offer solutions to climate change. Some solutions include reducing our reliance on fossil fuels, investing in renewable energy sources, and planting trees to help absorb carbon dioxide.

2. Appeal to your audience's emotions. Climate change is a problem that affects everyone, and it's important to get people emotionally invested in the issue.

3. Make sure your speech is well-organized and easy to follow. Climate change can be a complex topic, so make sure your speech is clear and concise
4. Use visuals to help explain your points. A good speech on climate change can be filled with charts, graphs, and statistics. But don't forget to also use powerful images and stories to help illustrate your points.

5. Stay positive. Climate change can be a depressing topic, but try not to end your speech on a negative note. Instead, talk about the steps we can take to address climate change and the positive outcomes that could come from it.

6. Climate change could damage economies, as businesses and industries have to cope with increased energy costs and disrupted supply chains.

Brief report about Climate Count Down Episode-7

In this Episode they were discussed about,

1. The response to COVID-19 offers an opportunity to rethink how we can work together to address the two global crises – climate change and the pandemic – simultaneously and more efficiently.

2. The WHO Manifesto for a Healthy Recovery from COVID-19 offers 6 prescriptions, which support a long-term vision for enhanced public services, strengthened climate-resilience and response capacities of health systems, and green and sustainable recovery.

3. Make sure your speech is well-organized and easy to follow. Climate change can be a complex topic, so make sure your speech is clear and concise
4. Use visuals to help explain your points. A good speech on climate change can be filled with charts, graphs, and statistics. But don't forget to also use powerful images and stories to help illustrate your points.

5. Raising awareness and thereby understanding of the effects of climate change on health will facilitate both behavioural change and societal support for the actions needed to reduce greenhouse gas emissions. It can also help in getting health-care professionals to support strategies for mitigation and adaptation that will both improve health and reduce vulnerability.

Brief report about Climate Count Down Episode-8

In this Episode she was discussed about,

1. The foundation for supporting life on Earth is trees.
2. Through photosynthesis, trees take up carbon dioxide and exhale oxygen.
3. Additionally, tying the dirt to their roots aid in decreasing soil erosion.
4. Trees slow the rate of global warming because they take up carbon from the atmosphere and store it in their wood and bark.
5. The abundance of wildlife and the protection they offer to countless species, including humans, are made possible by forests.
6. Fruits from trees are a food source for humans, animals, and birds.
7. Additionally, they are the primary supplier of raw materials to the paper and lumber sectors, which helps to stimulate the economy.
8. Trees serve as natural air conditioners by absorbing heat up to 8 to 10 degrees Celsius and chilling the air around them.
9. Neem is a common tree that assists in air purification by eradicating unwanted organisms.
10. Because it makes the most considerable contribution to the creation of oxygen, the Amazon Rain Forest is known as the "Lung of Earth.

Brief report about Climate Count Down Episode-9

Mr.Vadivel, HOD/MBA of JKKMCT delivered a speech about the awareness and gave some important points to the students. The points are,

Communicating on climate change is about educating and mobilizing audiences to take action to confront the climate crisis. Everyone can play a part by raising their voice, sharing solutions, and advocating for change – shaped by different experiences, cultural contexts, and underlying values.

Global Warming refers to the Earth's warming, i.e. rise in the Earth's surface temperature. A variety of human activities, such as industrial pollution and the burning of fossil fuels, are responsible for this temperature rise. These operations emit gases that cause the greenhouse effect and, subsequently, global warming. Climate change, starvation, droughts, depletion of biodiversity, etc. are some of the most important consequences of global warming.

Breaking down the science behind climate change is complex, but the right messengers can get the audience engaged. As an established content creator, you may already be a trusted messenger for your audience. If you bring in other messengers, consider respected scientists (whose articles refer to peer-reviewed scientific journals or studies conducted by reputable research institutions or universities), weather presenters, and medical doctors, all of which are widely trusted. Often the most impactful climate communications also come from "people like me" who are affected and care.

Introduction

Radio is the most effective and easily accessible medium of information even in the era of modern technology. Telecommunications advancements have opened up new opportunities for education, information seeking, awareness, entertainment and has given a new life to radio. FM radio is still a popular means of communication among youth. About 68% of the population of Pakistan is youth who are considered as less than 30 years of age. The youth in Pakistan is using FM radio more than any other members of the society (Planning Commission, 2011). The definition of youth is different from country to country; however, the UN has a general definition of youth as those persons who are between 15 and 24 years.

The key is not to think of a campus radio station as a means of replacing other communication tools, but rather as a medium that compliments them. It can be used to establish a creative hub within your university allowing students to express themselves and build their confidence.

Bringing students together and giving them a voice is important in creating a college identity that can then be promoted to potential new students. A fully-functioning radio station can help create a deeper connection with the local community creating an appreciation of community issues. This can help students get involved with local businesses and charities and really make an impact outside of college life.

Report of the event :

The resource person Mr A.R.RANGANATHAN, M.E., M.B.A starts his Seminar at 10 AM. He generally starts his speech about present scenario of Entrepreneur. He explains various steps to be followed to become an entrepreneur. He gives some reference and key notes to students to follow.

How to become an entrepreneur

Use the following 10 steps as your personal checklist for success. Here's how to become an entrepreneur:

1. Find a business idea
2. Get to know your target audience
3. Test your idea
4. Use a business plan template
5. Create a website
6. Hire great partner(s)
7. Build your network

OF TECHNOLOGY

GOBI (Tk), ERODE (Dt).

8. Plan your finances
9. Develop a strong brand
10. Create value in your market

01. Find a business idea

When trying to start a business, choose a business idea for your new venture that will set you apart from others. For example, if you start a clothing line, mull over how you'll niche down: What products will you sell? Will it be sustainable or ethnically made? Once you've narrowed it down, you can think about potential business names or use a business name generator to get your creative juices flowing.

On top of finding your competitive edge, think about what you really love doing. What problems are you passionate about solving? Is it reducing waste from plastic straws? Your recipe for business success is sticking to what you love, know best, and feel the world needs.

Beyond just being passionate or determined, make sure you educate yourself on the topic. This could mean going back to school to get a degree, taking online courses or just doing some research by turning to a favorite blog.

02. Get to know your target audience

Although an idea can sound great, make sure that others will pay for it before you pat yourself on the back. A big reason businesses fail is because there is no market need.

Researching your audience will allow you to see the profit potential. In addition, you will not only better understand your clientele's needs, but you'll also be able to effectively market your solution to them.

Perform market research then list out the characteristics that define your target market: For example, what age range do they fall in? What are their hobbies? Where are they located? And so on.

03. Test your idea

A trial period is important for gauging the interest around your product or service with your potential customers, getting first-hand experience understanding how you can best serve them, and seeing where you can make improvements. Treat this stage as the first step in selling your idea.

OF TECHNOLOGY

The more you get your idea into the hands of consumers, the more feedback you'll get and can use to build on your concept and create awareness. For example, you can send out samples, host focus groups, or even work one-on-one. Your success depends on seriously taking in this feedback.

04. Use a business plan template

Becoming a small business owner requires a lot of planning, from picking a type of entrepreneurship, building your concept and understanding it, to turning your idea into a reality.

Start in an organized fashion with a business plan template that details your idea's core components, from your mission statement to your marketing, operations plan and more. This document will help you visualize your goals and help you carry them out.

It's advised to also create an executive summary, or a high level overview of your business. This report is essential when you need to communicate your business in brief, such as when looking for partners or requesting funding.

05. Create a website

Whether you're using it for online scheduling or eCommerce, or simply directing organic search visitors to your landing page, every business needs a website. You can get started by choosing a website template and customizing it to meet your needs.

From the Homepage and About Us page to a contact form, consider what type of pages you'll want for your professional website. After you've selected your template, you'll need a free web hosting provider to take your website online—and keep it there. Finally, pick a domain name, or online address, so people can find you online.

06. Hire great partner(s)

Flying solo is great, but a supportive partner will help you see different challenges and opportunities you otherwise might have missed.

PRINCIPAL
JKK MUNIRAJAH COLLEGE
OF TECHNOLOGY
PALAYAM (Po)-638 506.
ERODE (Dt).

When looking for a partner, think of the qualities you would like them to have and the people you know who possess them. Have a semi-planned business proposal when you reach out to your chosen potential partner, (your executive summary, for instance).

Your first hire can set the mood for your company culture—the shared vision, norms and mores shared by your employees—even if you aren't hiring a full team just yet. Such foresight can determine your business's future success, as it ensures that everyone on your team will be in-sync.

07. Build your network

Business is not a solitary journey, even if you choose not to have partners. Having knowledgeable and experienced mentors will help you understand your market better, take advantage of opportunities and avoid costly mistakes.

08. Plan your finances

Planning your business finances might not be the most exciting step, but it is mandatory. Begin by getting a good grasp of the cost of starting a business. How much do you need? Run through the costs of materials and production, supplies, hiring employees, promotion, office space, etc.

As a novice, it's likely you'll need to request help, so make sure to keep your expenses as low as possible to give yourself some financial room for external consulting. Once you have a good idea of how much funding you'll need, check in with your financial situation. How much will you invest in yourself? If you're looking for investors, having some of your own skin in the game will make them more willing to support you.

Once you have the funds, open up a dedicated bank account to track your profits and expenses. It'll streamline accounting and give you useful data to plan your business growth.

09. Develop a strong brand

Like Spotify's distinguishing vibrant green and black or Dove's subtle "real beauty," a consistent brand identity helps generate recognition and build trust amongst customers over time. Verbally, it's composed of your core values, language, employees, and customers. Aesthetically, it involves your brand colors, font choices, logo and more.

10. Create value in your market

Now that you have a tested product or service, a strong network, and brand channels for promotion–it's time to choose how you will go to market. Whether it's through routinely publishing relevant thought leadership on social media or an elevator pitch that shows why your offering beats your competitors, a clear, defined go-to-market message will help your customers see the unique reason to choose your brand over another.

Are you ready to become an entrepreneur?

So, you may already know starting a business takes more than having a good business idea. According to the Kauffman Foundation, the survival rate for new businesses was 81.7% in 2021, indicating that not all entrepreneurs will see a second year. With entrepreneurship being a highly competitive and complex practice, you need to be prepared to deal with its ups and downs.

While the work may be fulfilling, it can also be incredibly stressful. You're building a life around your business, possibly putting a strain on your p. And not only that, you will need both emotional and financial support systems to keep you on the path.

Here are some clear signs that show you're ready to become an entrepreneur.

Learn to handle rejection

20% of new businesses fail in the first year of operations, according to the US Bureau of Labor Statistics. As an entrepreneur, one of the first things you've got to learn is how to handle rejection.

Whether you hear a "no" from a potential investor, client or publisher, having the right attitude about rejection can go a long way. Take the example of J.K. Rowling. The Harry Potter novelist has always been straightforward to fans about her own bumpy road to becoming a billionaire. In 2016, she tweeted two rejection letters she received, stating to her fans that they were an inspiration to keep going.

Another good way to deal with rejection is to take a step back and focus on self-care, writes Dr. Leslie Becker-Phelps in Bouncing Back from Rejection: Build the Resilience You Need to Get Back Up When Life Knocks You Down. Practicing self-care, Becker-Phelps explains, can be anything from meditating, running or even listening to music. Think of rituals that calm you down, thereby bringing you back to a balanced place.

Have a steady flow of funds

One of the most common small business challenges is lack of capital and cash flow, reported a recent Guidant Financial survey. At the early stage, a steady source of funding could mean either personal or family savings. If you need to search beyond your immediate reach, you could also

OF TECHNOLOGY
T.N. PALAYAM (Po)-638 506.
ERODE (Dt).

apply for a public or private small business loan, business credit cards or extend your line of credit at the bank.

Aside from having a steady revenue stream, you'll also need to ensure steady profits to grow a business once it's launched. By doing extensive market research on your business idea, you'll be able to say whether there's an actual demand for your product or service and the size of your potential customer base.

Have a mentor

A poll by Kabbage, a global small business financial service platform, found that "92% of small business owners agree mentors have a direct impact on growth and survival of their businesses." Not only are mentors essential to achieving small business success, some of the biggest entrepreneurs in history have said they would not be where they are without their own mentors.

In 2014, Oprah Winfrey said, "I've been blessed to have [poet] Maya Angelou as my mentor, mother/sister, and friend since my 20s. She was there for me always, guiding me through some of the most important years of my life. The world knows her as a poet but at the heart of her, she was a teacher. 'When you learn, teach. When you get, give' is one of my best lessons from her."

Through proper mentorship, you will gain not only wisdom, guidance and perspective, but also all the necessary skills for professional growth, such as communication and self-awareness.

Be passionate about your idea

Some of the richest companies to date—Venmo, Instagram, Uber and WhatsApp — started in economic downturns, reported TechCrunch. Their founders were resilient in pursuit of innovation and creativity. Being passionate about what you're doing can help you stay motivated, even when the stakes are high.

Be comfortable taking risks

Risk taking plays a major role in becoming an entrepreneur. Without it, business leaders may not have gotten as far as they did. Facebook CEO Mark Zuckerberg famously said, "The biggest risk is not taking risks. In a world that's changing really quickly, the only strategy that is guaranteed to fail is not taking risks."

PRINCIPAL
OF TECHNOLOGY
T.N. PALAYAM (Po)-638 506.
GOBI (Tk), ERODE (Dt).

Get ready to be comfortable with uncertainty and step out of your comfort zone. Some risk you might face include:

- Leaving a full-time job and steady paycheck
- Sacrificing time you'd normally take to enjoy your weekends or see friends and family
- Using your personal finances with no guarantee you'll see a return on investment
- Miscalculating whether your product or service idea will take off

That said, if you're not quite ready to follow through with your plan, take it slow. Instead, start with adjusting a tiny part of your career at a time with one of these successful habits.
